

Challenge 6

Make it, Bake it, Munch it up!

Who doesn't love to eat home baking, but how often has it been you doing more than licking the bowl? The summer is a great time to ask the head chef in your house if you can make something for the family or your friends.

You need their permission to use the kitchen and you might need their help with anything tricky. You don't have to make anything too fancy.

Here are some different places to find recipes

- * Your bookshelves at home
- * At Whangarei Libraries in either the Children's or Adult Non-Fiction around 641.5 section.
- * The Internet
- * Ask family members if they have a recipe they think you would enjoy making.
- * Magazines and newspapers

You could make

- * Ice blocks
- * Ice cream
- * Fudge
- * Cookies
- * Cakes (cupcakes are really fun if you like decorating with icing)
- * Slices
- * Scones
- * Pikelets
- * Cheese sticks
- * Your own pizza!

Or, alternatively have a bake off competition with your brothers and sisters and get your parents to judge the best dish!

Oh, and as my parents always used to tell me, a good baker always does their own dishes!

Send us a photo to libraryevents@wcd.govt.nz of what you made and make sure your name is on it!
Or, bring it in to Whangarei central Library before Tuesday 17 January 2017.
